OUTDOOR DESIGN

Plan Now, Enjoy Later

Though it might not feel like poolside weather right now, this is the best time to be thinking about your outdoor living spaces. Make a plan to bring the same kind of thoughtful design from inside your home to the living spaces outside your home so you'll be ready to enjoy it when warmer days arrive.

A few of the requests for additions I get this time of year are outdoor kitchens, fireplaces, pools, paver walkways, patios, and porches. Since these spaces encourage more time spent outdoors, they add life to any space! After you decide what amenities you want to add to punch up the style and functionality of your yard, it's time to think about landscaping. Do you crave lots of color? Or lush, leafy greenery? Either way, you'll want to start planning now to get the most out of your space. Ready to get started? Our team would love to help! I look forward to helping you transform your yard in time for spring. —David Munsey
